

Example of A Funeral Home's General Price List in New York State

*Prepared by the Funeral Consumers Alliance of the Finger Lakes

August 2020*

The generic General Price List (GPL) that begins on page 2 of this document shows the information and statements that the GPL of any funeral home in New York State must contain and the order in which the services and merchandise offered for sale must be presented. This document is not an official publication of any government agency or provider of funeral goods and services. It is provided as an information source for people who will need to learn how to read an actual General Price List.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC), through its Funeral Rule, requires that every funeral home give to customers and others who request it a General Price List that discloses prices and other information in specific ways. The minimum information contained in a GPL, but not its format, is specified by the Funeral Rule.

The FTC has published generic price lists that show how a funeral home can comply with the Funeral Rule. The prices of all of the services and merchandise that the business offers for sale must be listed, but the business is not required to offer all of the items covered by the Funeral Rule or shown in our example. Any funeral home may offer additional services and merchandise.

The New York State Department of Health imposes requirements that are more detailed than those of the Funeral Rule. All GPLs in New York State must present the prices of services and merchandise in a similar order and must contain state-mandated disclosures that sometimes differ in wording from those required by the FTC. The state requirements result in some redundant statements on GPLs—one form of a statement as mandated by the state, the other form as mandated by the FTC. Our generic GPL reflects these dual requirements and identifies FTC-mandated statements thus: "FTC—."

The Resources menu on our website www.fingerlakesfunerals.org has links to the Federal Trade Commission's information about the Funeral Rule and to information about New York State's funeral laws. Both these government sites offer guidelines for planning funerals. New York is one of only nine US states that requires hiring a licensed funeral director to handle certain aspects of a funeral.
